Washington's Marijuana Law: A Mexican Perspective

Javier Sicilia, an award-winning poet, essayist, novelist, and journalist from Mexico, speaks about marijuana legalization in Washington and national immigration reform. After the murder of his son in 2011, Sicilia led a series of high-profile events through Mexico entitled The Caravan Project with the Movement for Peace with Justice and Dignity seeking to gain visibility on the true costs of the war on drugs.

October 26th from 1-3 PM at Seattle Law School, Lecture Hall C6 (901 12th Ave, Seattle, WA 98122)

October 26th from 6-8 PM at the South Park Community Center (8319 8th Ave South, Seattle, 98108) A light meal and childcare will be provided.

